Caliber	.600 Belted Nitro Express 3" (15,7x76 R. .600 NE), .458 Winchester Magnum (11,6x63. .458 WM)

The worlds most powerful pistol is the Austrian Pfeifer-Zeliska .600 Nitro Express Magnum. It is chambered to fire the British developed .600 caliber rifle bullet originally made by Holland and Holland. This revolver was not originally a full production model but a bespoke one off, built especially for a wealthy Swiss gentleman...Mr. Zeliska. The gun is made from super hard 42CrMo4 Tungsten steel and can withstand the gas pressure of the .60 Nitro Express Magnum cartridge of 2500 BAR without a hitch. The cylinders pivot is 8mm in diameter and is bolted to the frame for extra strength. The empty cylinder with its highly polished chambers weighs a massive 4.5lb on its own. All handgun bullets can never be as powerful as when fired through a rifle and the 600 Nitro Express is then even more powerful!

The AMT Lightning pistol was a .22LR-caliber semi-automatic handgun manufactured by Arcadia Machine & Tool (AMT) of Covina, California during the 1980s and early 90s. The pistol was an unlicensed low-cost clone of the Ruger Mark II pistol and, along with the AMT Lightning 25/22 rifle, prompted a successful trademark infringement lawsuit from Ruger that helped bankrupt the company

The Ladies Home Companion was a pistol (technically) made by the Cobray company on the same frame as their 12ga "Street Sweeper" shotgun. It had no stock or front grip, and was chambered for the .45-70 rifle cartridge, carrying 12 rounds in its fixed drum magazine. It's kinda like watching a train wreck...you know you shouldn't, but you kinda want one anyway. These sold even worse than the Streetsweeper, but they at least didn't have an egregiously offensive name and thus were never the target of a major lobbying campaign. The "Ladies Home Companion" is arguably the worst handgun ever conceptualized and executed.

Specifications and Features: 14 Stainless Steel Barrel. DuraSight® Z2 Scope Rail. 3.7 lbs Total Weight. Lifetime Warranty. The SCOUT V2 is very similar in design to the APEX centerfire rifle but without the interchangeable barrel capability. So for the hunter who wants a high quality single shot rifle in only one caliber the SCOUT V2 is the ideal choice. Sleek lightweight and easy to operate the SCOUT V2 sets a new standard for affordable single shot hunting rifles. The SCOUT Pistol continues with the SCOUT rifle's accuracy and sets a new standard for accuracy in handgun hunting.

The ENCOM- Enfield America is an example of firearms production methods and thoughts during the 1980's. Designed as a semi-automatic pistol the ENCOM was akin to the TEC-9 and Kimbel AP-9 handguns of the period. It was chambered in both .9x19mm-Parabellum and .45-ACP and came in various barrel lengths as well as option for early laser aiming devices of the period. The weapon was capable of being fitted with telescoping wire stocks for longer range shooting. The barrels were interchangeable to allow the weapon to go from a 4.50 inch to 18.50 inch barrel if required.

The Lone Eagle is designed starting from a polymer stock which then can have a variety of different barrels, sights, and scopes added to the weapon. The weapon can be quickly broken down and barrels can be switched quickly. The barrel is constructed from Military spec Chrome MolyVanadium. The weapon's barrel is available in a variety of different caliber. Instead of a hinged, break-open action, The Lone Eagle employs a rotating, "cannon-breech" system of loading and unloading the gun. At the rear of the gun, a large round knob rotates to open or close the breech. s

Caliber	7,62x39 Kalashnikov (.30 Russian)

Not much info is available on this revolver. Not many were made and it is a very obscure firearm. This revolver is special because it is chambered for 7.62x39 caliber, the same cartridge used with SKS and AK-47/AKM battle rifles. It was manufactured by Philips and Rodgers, the same company that made the Medusa multicaliber revolver.

The Remington XP-100 (from eXperimental Pistol number 100) is a bolt action pistol produced by Remington Arms from 1963 to 1998. The XP-100 was one of the first handguns designed for long range shooting, and introduced the .221 Remington Fireball (often called .221 Fireball), which is still the fastest handgun cartridge ever produced by a major ammunition maker. A decidedly odd looking gun, the XP-100 redefined the meaning of handgun accuracy, and the original XP-100 is still competitive today in the sport of handgun varminting, which it helped create.

Caliber .600 Belted Nitro Express 3" (15,7x76 R. .600 NE),

The Thomson Contender Encore .600 Nitro Express Magnum is a single shot target pistol, it is very light and dangerously uncontrollable when fired. The recoil in such a relatively light gun at 6lbs can in fact throw the pistol out of your hands. All handgun bullets can never be as powerful as when fired through a rifle, and the .600 Nitro Express is then even more powerful.

LYMAN Thompson Center Encore Decelerator Grip and Forend Set

Using the proven Decelerator material, Pachmayr has crafted a grip and forend that deliver far greater control while softening recoil. In addition to recoil control, the Decelerator material offers a more secure, consistent grip that can actually enhance accuracy, especially at the range when firing multiple shots. The softer forend provides for a secure, steady rest on any handy surface in the field.

Caliber .50 Browning Machine Gun (12,7x99 NATO. .50 BMG)

Thunder .50 in 50BMG is by far and away the MOST POWERFUL handgun in the world right now. firing a 600+grain .50 inch projectile at about 2500 FPS it outclasses any other handgun. but as I said it is totally useless other than to say that you have one. The .50 BMG Thunder never got beyond the prototype stage, but it still holds honors (along with the short-barreled Maddi Griffin plans) as the most extreme handgun ever actually made and shot.

Caliber .475 Wildey Magnum (12x33, .475 Wildey)

Wildey pistol is a gas operated, rotating bolt semiautomatic firearm. The rotary bolt has three lugs which lock into the long barrel extension. The slide is linked to the bolt by the extension on the one of locking lugs. The short stroke annular gas piston is located around the barrel, just ahead of the slide. When round is fired, the gas piston is pushed back against the slide, which on its way back rotates and then retracts the bolt, extracting and ejecting the spent cartridge case. On the way back, the slide with the bolt feeds the fresh cartridge from magazine into the barrel, and then locks the bolt.
